

Sophie Sofa

Based on a high regency settee that Max bought from a country house in the West Country. This is a generous, really comfortable, yet formal settee of grand scale. The frame is hand made traditionally using only solid beech and all the joints are mortice and tenon. The sofa is webbed and upholstered using traditional methods with handmade square castors, which are hand cast from the original. The legs are made in American black walnut, antiques and polished to match the antique.

Requires 18m of fabric (plain and standard width).
